See That Beater!

It's mounted on the axle—that's why the John Deere is easier on you, easier on your horses, does better work and lasts longer.

JOHN DEERE SPREADER

The patented beater construction gives you these distinctive advantages:

1. A box 6 to 10 inches lower than others—much easier to load.
2. High drive wheels—4 to 8 inches higher than others—gives extra traction—extra power. Load moves back to beater on rollers—saves the horses.
3. The simplest spreader built—no clutches, no chains, no adjustments for you to make—reduces repair bills—the spreader lasts years longer.
4. Beater close to ground—does not throw manure high in air—winds do not cause drifting of manure—does better work. Patented revolving rake prevents clogging.

Come in and see this better spreader—there are many other features on it we want to show you. Call and see the machines or send for Booklets

Letter from Alma Pendexter Hayden

Writes of Norway Pupils

Editor of the Advertiser:

I read with great interest Don Seitz's Review of the Presidents.

He had them all in line and no halos allowed except to Lincoln.

His analysis of Wilson does not quite agree with that of Mary Allen Hulbert, who is writing some sketches that must be abhorrent to the Wilson family, though ostensibly written in his praise.

But to return to Norway. There is but one Don for us and we would all vote for him to be President of the United States and have confidence he would fill the position creditably.

When he was a mere youngster, and was exposing the "Ceiling Fraud" at Albany, the paper took sides and the politicians realized that he was a young man of ideas, who dealt with facts.

As he bade good by to Norway and started out in the world to make his way, we knew he had the courage and determination that would not fail him but it did not occur to us that he would reach so high a mark.

Don was one of my Norway pupils—recited to me in French, Geometry and other subjects during his High School course. He and Dr. Frank Bradbury were in some of the classes together, in fact, they were "together" much of the time in school and out, sort of a "David and Jonathan" pair as I fancy they are today. The Dr. is also Major Bradbury, having served in two wars as surgeon in the army.

Prof. George R. Howe also recited to me in French and Geometry and, during my second period of teaching, brought specimens into my Natural History Class and gave them to me for my collection.

I think of so many pupils of Norway, I must write of them at another time. Charles, Steve and Fred Cummings all recited to me also George. I think Ed had not entered high school then. "The Cummings boys" have been successful, all fine men. Steve, Fred and Ed have homes in Norway where I count it a privilege to live.

Dr. Harry Jones is another smiling member of my High School classes, who remains in the old town and continues in his father's business successfully.

Another of my pupils, well known in Norway, is Fred Smith of the National Bank.

Once I asked the English class to write a composition telling their ambitions and what work they intended to take up on leaving school. Some wrote in a joking way about their future, but Fred stated that he wished to be a respected citizen of the community and to have a position in the bank. His practical way of dealing with the subject that day surprised me, as he had not been, to say the least, in a serious mood.

I doubt if any of the class predicted their own future as accurately as he did and I have often thought of it since his "fortune came true."

My nephew, Elmer P. Durrell, always says he is glad he went to Norway to school. Wouldn't have missed it for anything. He has followed teaching since he graduated from Bates College and shows the Pendexter trait in writing, having written, the past few years, several books for boys which have been very popular. Mr. Durrell is at the head of a school in Watertown, Mass.

I believe Dr. C. Stephens was the first Norway teacher to make a record writing stories. He has been widely known for a great many years.

I think the next author of stories from the rank of teachers in Norway High, is my brother, Hugh Pendexter, who came up from Bates to teach Greek and Latin, met a pretty teaching stories and stories, trying to keep up with the demand for his novels. I find his books in the libraries of Canada and all the cities where I go. He has been very successful and is widely known but seems to like Norway best. I don't blame him, I do.

I was much interested in C. E. Waterman's review of Don's biography of Pulitzer, which review shows a good command of English and a depth of understanding. It happens that Mr. Waterman was a pupil in my Latin class in Norway High School and in the same class was the late Joseph R. Parrott who was afterward associated with Flagler in Florida, as vice-president of the East Coast Railway. To Mr. Parrott belongs the credit of building the railway to Key West.

There are many other pupils of mine of whom I shall soon write. I remember me as pleasantly as I do them. If each class of mine since 1877 had a secretary, I would be pleased to have the address of those still living send to me at 405 Columbus Avenue, Rochester, N. Y.

Just before Capt. Frank Bartlett started South at the time of the Spanish War, I was getting his pictures at his studio in New York and when I paid for them he said, "Well Miss Penn, this money may help to buy me a wooden leg." I often thought of it, after his death—a good and staid boy.

It was Howard Smith who hired me to teach in Norway High School in 1877. I had never been in the town and Mr. Smith gave different times since then and at each time have been appointed by Judge Wm. F. Jones, whom I have to thank for my renewal of the pleasant relationships of Norway.

With kind remembrances to my pupils and friends—Alma Pendexter Hayden.

Your BEST trousers

THAT tyrant, Style, decrees that men who want to be fashionably dressed are to wear a dark suit coat with striped trousers of a lighter shade.

And never was a more sensible style. Nearly every man has one or more coats that are good but they hang in the closet because the trousers are worn out. By selecting a pair of Dutchess Trousers you complete a suit that is in the height of fashion.

Cut full on the very latest lines, we can assure you a fit in Dutchess Trousers that would make a custom tailor envious.

And whether it is for dress or for work or for play every pair of Dutchess Trousers is made to give long honest wear. They have to be live up to their maker's famous warranty of "10c a Button; $1.00 a Rip."

Be smart in both senses of the word and come in for your pair of Dutchess Dress Trousers.

EAST STONEHAM

William Adams

William Adams, one of Stoneham's oldest and most respected citizens, passed away at his home in North Stoneham on Monday, March 9. Death was due to heart failure and the end came very suddenly.

Mr. Adams was born in Stoneham, July 8, 1846. In 1868 he married Lottie Olive Brooks of Biddeford and six children were born to them; Herbert Melvin, who was the builder and owner of the widely known summer hotel and camps known as the Adams' Camps, at the head of Lake Kezar in Lovell. It will be remembered that this son met death by drowning in Kezar, on December 10, 1922.

Guy Welrose of Bridgton, who was formerly a barber in several large hotels in Boston, and who is at present in the automobile sales business in Bridgton, and is also an extensive buyer of standing timber and pulp wood.

Edith Lillian, wife of the late Victor Macalaster of Lovell. This daughter passed on in August of 1907.

Grace Yelma, wife of Curtis D. Bickford of Stoneham. Mr. and Mrs. Bickford are the owners and managers of the attractive summer hotel known as "Kewawaydin Cottage" and located on Lake Kewawaydin in East Stoneham.

Blanche Isabelle, widow of the late Fred L. McKee of Stoneham and Stoneham's present post mistress.

Charles Hayward, a well known chef, and at one time associated with his brother, Guy, in the automobile sales business.

Mr. Adams' second marriage was with Sarah Edilon of Sweden. To this union were born five daughters, Josie May, Goldie Frances, wife of Fred Wright of Gilead; Alice Marilla, a teacher in the public schools; Lottie Maude, wife of Willis Warren of Stoneham and Ethel Phylinda, wife of John Files, Jr., also of Stoneham. The second Mrs. Adams passed to the higher life, January 18, 1917.

Mr. Adams' entire life had been spent in his native town of Stoneham with the exception of a few years previous to his marriage, when he was employed in the cotton mills of Biddeford and Saco. After his marriage, Mr. Adams returned to the home farm and here were born his large family of eleven children. Through hard work, careful management and much self-denial, Mr. Adams, with the aid of his family at large, became very prosperous, and about twenty-five years ago he built a fine set of farm buildings on the home farm. His place became a welcome home to fishermen in the spring and hunters in the autumn. Mr. Adams gave up active labor about two years ago but continued to "chore" about the home until the last, and had been driving his own car the past two summers.

Special mention should be made of the devotion of two of the daughters, Lottie M., who was ever a faithful assistant and an interested helper in the work and management of the large farm until her marriage three years ago, and Josie M., who was with her father until the end. In spite of the loneliness of the farm life after the mother's death, and the departure of all other members of the family to other walks of life, this daughter remained in the home and was ever mindful of the father's health and comfort. Such devotion is surely worthy of reward.

Mr. Adams will be greatly missed. His age was 79 years. Burial was in the family lot in Hillside Cemetery, East Stoneham.
